

Enid Tall Cabinet Cream

An arched top with glass doors that trace the curve. Arched glass doors sit above two base drawers, giving the Enid cabinet generous storage with a refined, architectural silhouette. Bullnose edge detailing divides the sections and the drawers for added character, while a painted cream exterior plays against a warm natural oak interior. Open display up top, tucked-away storage below—a quiet, considered study in contrast.

- Arched Glass Top: An arched upper section with glass doors that follow the curve gives the tall cabinet a refined, architectural silhouette and an airy display.
- Cream and Oak Contrast: A painted cream exterior plays against a warm natural oak interior, while tempered glass doors keep the upper display open and light.
- Bullnose Edge Detail: Bullnose edge detailing divides the upper and lower sections and the two drawers, adding architectural character and quietly breaking up the front.
- Display and Store: Glass doors reveal open display shelving up top, while two lower drawers offer generous closed storage for everything you'd rather keep tucked away.
