

Lazarus Outdoor Bench Black

Cool, composed, concrete. The Lazarus bench suits indoor interiors as much as sitting it out on the patio in the summer shade. Naturally attractive and durable in fiber-reinforced cement, whether you decide to pair it up with its concrete-counterpart (we've got a few winning options table-wise) or alongside a fine natural wood table, the result is sure to be pleasing. Its quality material keeps it fresh and contemporary, so achieving that modern look with pillows or throws is simple. Ideal as an entryway bench, dining bench, or an attractive accent seat for your plant or art collection.

- Clean-Lined Profile: A rectangular silhouette and contemporary shape give this bench a grounded, sculptural look that feels easy to place across a range of spaces.
- Reinforced Cement Build: Fiber-reinforced natural cement gives the bench a solid feel, durable structure, and water-resistant performance for everyday use indoors or outside.
- Three-Seat Comfort: Room for three makes this piece a practical perch for entryways, dining areas, patios, and other shared spots around the home.
- Flexible Placement: Designed for indoor or outdoor use, this bench moves fluidly through the home and should be stored inside or covered during inclement weather.
