

Orrix Outdoor Barstool White

A concrete barstool that flows like sculpture. A fluid, continuously curved silhouette flares at the seat and base and pulls in at the center, giving the Orrix stool the feel of sculpture as much as seating. A gentle twist through the body adds movement and energy, while water-resistant concrete keeps the graceful form standing up to the open air. Equal parts seat and statement, indoors or out.

- Sculptural Curve: A continuously curved form flares at the seat and base and pinches at the center, reading as much like sculpture as a functional outdoor seat.
- Weather-Ready Concrete: Water-resistant concrete stands up to sun, rain, and outdoor use, keeping the stool durable and grounded on a patio, deck, or terrace.
- Twisting Form: A subtle twist through the body gives the piece a sense of movement and energy, making it engaging to view from every angle.
- Indoor or Out: A balance of weight and graceful form suits the stool to an outdoor bar or a covered indoor counter with sculptural presence.
