

Otis Mirror Blackened Bronze

Round, convex, and in no mood to sit quietly on the wall. Its convex shape bows outward for a playful, space-widening effect, turning everyday reflections into something worth a second look. The blackened bronze frame lands between warm and neutral, so it layers easily while still feeling distinct. With mirrored glass set in an aluminum frame over an MDF back panel, the Otis mirror brings bold perspective—without making the room work harder.

- Bold Convex Profile: An outward-curved shape adds depth and personality, turning a functional round mirror into a bold, maximalist focal point with modernist roots.
- Warm Modernist Finish: The blackened bronze finish on the aluminum frame reads warm and neutral, so it pairs easily with any palette while still bringing a defined edge.
- Wide-Angle Reflection: The outward curve takes in a wide sweep of the room, giving everyday reflections a playful fish-eye twist that helps the space feel more open.
