

Maris Floor Lamp Off White

Cotton thread spun into a glowing conical shade. A wide conical shade tapers to a narrow neck for a clean, precise silhouette, giving the Maris floor lamp a refined, geometric presence in a room. Radial cotton thread runs in precise lines from crown to edge, creating a graphic, almost architectural pattern that softens the light, set on a mild steel body and mango wood base. Light, filtered through thread — equal parts lamp and sculpture.

- Conical Cotton Shade: A wide cotton-thread shade tapers to a narrow neck for a clean, geometric silhouette that filters light into a soft, ambient glow.
- Radial Thread Detail: Cotton threads run in precise lines from the narrow crown to the wide edge, creating a graphic, architectural pattern that gives the shade character.
- Steel and Wood: A mild steel body and a warm mango wood base ground the lamp with a balance of structure and natural material in an off-white palette.
- Sculptural Light: The refined, resolved form reads as much like sculpture as lighting, bringing a quiet, considered presence to a living room or corner.
