

Maris Pendant Lamp Off White

Cotton, metal, and wood, talked into one easy pendant. A gently flared cotton-thread shade brings an organic quality overhead, while a slim black metal stem and warm wooden base hold it in quiet balance. The wide conical form filters light into a soft glow, giving the Maris pendant a harmonious, resolved character above a table or island. Different materials, one warm glow — hung with intent.

- Conical Cotton Shade: A wide, gently flared cotton-thread shade brings an organic quality overhead, filtering light into a soft, ambient glow above a table or island.
- Mixed Materials: Cotton thread, a slim black metal stem, and a warm wooden base bring three different materials together in a balanced, harmonious composition.
- Soft Ambient Light: The thread shade diffuses light gently, casting a warm, even glow that adds a soft, layered quality to a room.
- Made to Hang: A clean, compact silhouette suits the pendant to a dining table, kitchen island, or entryway, casting focused light right where it is needed.
