

Marcus Outdoor Dining Table Brown

Teak that shrugs off the weather, season after season. Natural oils make the Marcus outdoor dining table at home in sun or rain, while a slatted top lets water drain straight through. A chunky trestle base with a connecting stretcher gives it a strong, grounded stance, and exposed joinery where the parts meet shows the craftsmanship up close. A subtly cut-out corner adds a quiet point of difference. Solid, considered, and ready for the elements.

- Teak for All Weather: Teak's natural oils stand up to sun, rain, and shifting seasons, making the dining table genuinely suited to year-round outdoor meals while keeping its strength.
- Slatted to Drain: A slatted tabletop lets rainwater pass straight through, keeping the surface clear and dry so the table stays ready whatever the forecast.
- Trestle and Joinery: A chunky trestle base with a connecting stretcher and exposed joinery gives the dining table a strong, grounded stance and craftsmanship you can see.
- Cut-Out Corner: A subtly cut-out corner adds a quiet point of difference to a tabletop with room for six, giving the substantial form a considered, intentional edge.
