

Kos Pendant Lamp Natural

A tiered cotton shade that steps up and opens wide. A stepped, tiered silhouette gives the Kos pendant a sculptural, almost totemic presence, stepping outward in distinct levels before flaring open at the top. Cotton thread over a mild steel body softens the light into a warm glow, while the bold, graphic stepping makes the form distinctive and memorable overhead. A glow that arrives in stages — bold, graphic, grounded.

- Tiered Silhouette: A stepped, tiered shape gives the pendant a sculptural, totemic presence, stepping outward in distinct levels before flaring open at the top.
- Cotton Thread Shade: A cotton-thread shade in a natural tone filters light into a soft, warm glow, bringing organic texture and character to the fixture.
- Steel Structure: A mild steel body holds the tiered form securely overhead, giving the lightweight cotton-thread shade a stable, durable frame that lasts.
- Soft Layered Light: The stepped cotton shade filters light through its tiers, casting a warm, diffuse glow over a dining table, island, or entryway.
