

Segment Coffee Table Jetty Black

Soft edges, hard stone, and a base that splits the difference. An angular cut through a rounded form gives the Segment coffee table its segmented base, where solid black marine marble does all the work. Natural striations run across the surface, giving each table its own tone and vein markings. Please use a coaster to keep the marble looking its best. Stone with a shape all its own.

- Angular Meets Round: A segmented base takes shape from an angular cut through a rounded form, giving a modern square table a sculptural stance.
- Stone All the Way Through: Made entirely of solid black marine marble, so the weight, cool touch, and density of natural stone carry through the whole piece.
- One Slab, One Pattern: Variances in the marble give every table its own tone and vein markings, so the pattern you receive exists on that piece alone.
- Coaster, Please: A coaster under drinks keeps the marble surface looking its best, an easy habit that comes with owning solid stone.
