

Sonora Framed Painting

Bark, coral, or eroded rock? One warm tone keeps you guessing. Worked entirely in a single olive-gray, the Sonora keeps the focus on surface and texture, a large-scale study in restraint and quiet impact. Acrylic on canvas at 48 inches wide, it brings a primal, earthy quality to a big, open wall. Framed in solid white wood, one tone with endless texture across the surface.

- Organic, Earthy Pattern: An all-over pattern reads like bark, coral, or eroded rock, giving the piece a primal, nature-inspired quality across the surface.
- One-Tone Acrylic: Painted in acrylic on canvas in a single warm olive-gray, the restrained palette keeps all the focus on surface and texture.
- Large-Scale Presence: At 48 inches wide, the piece anchors a large, open wall with quiet, textural impact and an earthy, grounded mood.
