

Warby Outdoor Dining Table Beige

Travertine looks, concrete backbone—Warby plays a clever trick. A water-transfer process patterns the concrete to mimic the organic look of travertine, giving the freeform dining table a playful, sculptural presence in soft beige. Cast in a concrete and fiberglass mix, each piece varies in color, pattern, and texture, so no two are alike. Stain-, water-, and scratch-resistant, it takes the outdoors in stride. A generous freeform top seats up to six, indoors or out. Faux travertine, character to spare.

- Faux Travertine Finish: A water-transfer process patterns the concrete to mimic travertine, giving the freeform dining table a playful, organic, and sculptural look from any angle.
- Cast Concrete Character: A concrete and fiberglass mix varies in color, pattern, and texture piece to piece, so no two Warby tables are exactly alike.
- Made For Weather: Stain-, water-, and scratch-resistant and suited to indoor or outdoor use, the surface takes patio weather and everyday spills in stride.
- Seats Up To Six: A generous freeform top seats up to six, bringing sculptural, organic presence to outdoor dinners and relaxed indoor gatherings alike.
